

ARTS & HEALTH (ARHL)

ARHL 530 Special Topics in Arts and Health (3 credits)

This special topics course covers in depth emerging issues, topics of relevance, problems or trends, and specialized content in arts and health not represented in the main curriculum of the program. Potential topics of interest include advocacy for arts in health programs, cultural diversity and communities, arts in health program marketing, ethical issues in arts and health, and promoting health literacy. This course provides communication and advocacy-related resources and skills useful to artists and arts educators, health care professionals, and program administrators in their efforts to foster individual, community, and policy level initiatives in the arts and health.
