GENDER, SEXUALITY AND WOMEN'S STUDIES (GSWS)

GSWS 102 Introduction to Women's and Gender Studies (3 credits)
This course introduces the student to the broad and interdisciplinary field known as Gender, Sexuality and Women's Studies. It is designed to make students aware of the new discoveries in feminist and gender studies research and to focus on many aspects of the female experience and the social construction of gendered identities. The course is designed to help students understand different theories and methodologies in diverse disciplines and to treat areas such as literature, history, psychology and the arts through an issue-oriented approach. Meets Gen Ed - Social Science Perspectives. Meets World Cultures Requirement.

GSWS 200 Transnational Feminisms (3 credits)
Prerequisite(s): GSWS 102. This course will interrogate the concept and practice of feminism from various locations outside of the U.S. Students will examine the political, cultural and socio-economic structures that produce or inhibit activism on women's lives and issues. Meets Gen Ed - Global Cultural Perspectives. Meets World Cultures Requirement.

GSWS 201 Inventing Feminism (3 credits)
Prerequisite(s): GSWS 102. How did feminism begin in Europe and America? This course studies the birth of feminism as an international political movement and explores its growth in response to Western social developments from 1750 to the mid-twentieth century.

GSWS 208 Men and Masculinities (3 credits)
Prerequisite(s): SOCI 100 or SOCI 102 or SOCI 104 or SOCI 106 or SOCI 113 or SOCI 201. This course focuses on men and masculine identities in the United States and other countries. It reviews how masculine identities are constructed in everyday lives and how societies shape such identities. In this class, we will examine the construction of masculinity in different areas such as work, school, sports, family and other social relationships. We also explore the diverse experiences of masculinities based on race, ethnicity, class and sexual orientation. Mutually exclusive with SOCI 208.

GSWS 301 Feminist Theory in Transnational Contexts (3 credits)
Prerequisite(s): GSWS 200 or GSWS 201 or GSWS 208 or SOCI 208. This course examines a wide variety of feminist theories which illustrate the many ways in which issues of gender can be interpreted. Recognizing that gendered identities are molded by such factors as class, race, sexual orientation and national identity, this course explores the issues of difference among women and the role of theory in conceptualizing such differences.

GSWS 302 Special Topics in Gender, Sexuality, and Women's Studies (3 credits)
Prerequisite(s): GSWS 200 or GSWS 201 or GSWS 208 or SOCI 208 or RELG 221 or EDFD 220 or HUMN 201 or HUMN 202 or HUMN 285. The exploration of a topic related to Gender, Sexuality, and Women's Studies which is either not covered in the curriculum or which deserves more in-depth treatment than is possible in an existing course. The specific topic will be announced each time the course is offered. May be repeated two times (as long as the topic is different) for a maximum of 9 credits.

GSWS 345 Imaging Medieval and Early Modern Women (3 credits)
Prerequisite(s): JUST 204 or JUST 205 or GSWS 301 or departmental approval. This course explores representations of medieval and early modern women, gender, and sexuality in literary, artistic, and musical media that were produced in continental Europe. Paying particular attention to works - e.g., manuscript illuminations, songs, texts - produced by, for, and about women this course transcends disciplinary boundaries and draws on a range of methodological approaches. Mutually exclusive with HUMN 345.
GSWS 350 Writing Women Safe: Writing, Rape Prevention, and Community Activism (3 credits)

Prerequisite(s): ENGL 300, JOUR 210, JOUR 211, WRIT 204, ENWR 205, WRIT 206, WRIT 207, ENWR 250, or GSWS 201. This course exposes students to writing-as-social-action through intensive study of the topic of sexual violence against women. Students will gain a broad-based understanding of community literacy and the role of writing outside school walls in order to fully explore how writing can function as an activist tool for the prevention of sexual violence. We will read broadly on the issue of sexual violence against women—analyzing depictions of rape in popular language, exploring how rape has been discussed in feminist theory and scholarship, and researching community-based and activist responses to rape and its prevention—in order to strengthen our own literacy practices towards prevention and awareness-raising. Students will be familiar with local, national, and international agencies that work to protect women from sexual violence and advocate for rape survivors. Students will develop activist writing projects that work to serve and further these existing efforts. Mutually exclusive with WRIT 350.

GSWS 355 Human Trafficking (3 credits)

Prerequisite(s): GSWS 200 or GSWS 201 or JUST 204 or JUST 205 or departmental permission. The goal of this course is to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of global human trafficking, including extent, causes, impact, perpetrators, victims and responses. In addition to an overview of the global issues we will examine the multifaceted needs of trafficking survivors, and legal and policy approaches to reducing the problem. Mutually exclusive with JUST 355.
