SPANISH/ITALIAN INTERDISCIPLINARY (SPIN)

SPIN 161 Magic Realism in Spanish American Literature (3 credits)
A study of magic realism as manifested in representative works of contemporary Spanish American fiction. Works to be read in English translation. Taught in English. Not for major credit. Meets World Cultures Requirement.

SPIN 475 Capstone Course in World Language, Business Culture (3 credits)
Prerequisite(s): Required International Experience and departmental permission. This course is for students in the World Language, Business & Culture major, a joint BA between CHSS and the Feliciano School of Business. Students in each of the language tracks will meet together, subsequent to their required International Experience (internship, study abroad, etc.). Students will critically examine each of their international experiences, comparing and contrasting the linguistic and cultural challenges they encountered, thereby developing strategies to strengthen their inter- and intra-cultural competence and agility. Course taught in English. Departmental permission required. Mutually Exclusive with MLLT 475.
